

Care Quality Commission – New Model for Quality Assurance of GP Services: Early Findings

PROFESSOR STEVE FIELD CBE FRCP FFPH FRCG

Steve is Chief Inspector of General Practice at the Care Quality Commission.

He is also Chairman of the National Inclusion Health Board. It pursues greater equity in healthcare and health outcomes, across communities we serve, with a drive to ensure the most vulnerable “invisible ones” are seen, heard and have access to quality care, regardless of circumstance or need.

He continues to practise as a GP at Bellevue Medical Centre in Birmingham, a large Academic Training Practice.

Prior to October 2013, he was NHS England’s Deputy

National Medical Director and Chairman of the NHS Future Forum, launched by the Prime Minister, Deputy Prime Minister and the Secretary of State for Health in April 2011. Between 2007-2010 Steve was Chairman of Council of the RCGP and for the past 12 years he has been a Member of Faculty at the Harvard Macy Institute, Harvard University, Boston, Massachusetts. He is a non-executive director of University College London Partners and Honorary Professor at the Universities of Birmingham and Warwick.

In 2010 Steve received a CBE for his services to medicine.

Date: 16 April 2015

Time: 12:30-13:30

Venue: NC12, St Luke’s Campus

RSVP: j.l.choules@exeter.ac.uk

About APEX

- APEX is the University of Exeter Collaboration for Academic Primary Care.
- APEX has been developed to align the primary care service priorities of NHS organisations within the South West with the education, training and research priorities of the University of Exeter.
- APEX aims to improve the quality of primary healthcare across the South West Peninsula, and thereby improve the health of the population of the South West.